BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

OF THE

STATE OF ILLINOIS.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, ILLINOIS, }
Springfield, December 1, 1856. }

To the General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

15th and 16th. Tabular statements of personal property, and the value of real property taxable in the years 1854 and 1855.

17th. A statement of state lands sold, and the number of acres remaining unsold.

18th. A list of the internal improvement lands unsold.

19th to 23d. The several statements and tables relative to the banking business.

A brief notice of the present condition of the banks established under the general banking law that have been closed, and those that are closing their business, is all that will be necessary in addition to the statements contained in the tables. Two of them, the bank of Lucas & Simonds, and the Quincy City Bank, have closed their business, except the filing of evidence that the notices required by section thirty-seven have been published, and the withdrawal of the funds deposited for the redemption of their notes. Nine others have filed certificates of their intention to close business, in accordance with the provisions of an act approved January 10th, 1855, three of which, the Exchange Bank of H. A. Tucker & Co., the Merchants' and Mechanics' Bank, and the Southern Bank of Illinois, at Belleville, have deposited specie and withdrawn their bonds. Six others—the Bank of Rockford, the City Bank, the Farmers' Bank, the Mechanics' and Farmers' Bank, the Phoenix Bank and the Union Bank—have been closed by protest, and receivers have been appointed to settle their affairs.

The law relative to the final settlement of the affairs of banks (thirty-seventh section of the general banking law) not being applicable to banks closing business under the act of 1855, or those closed by protest, it may be necessary to determine by law when and how their affairs shall finally be closed.

The statement of the treasurer's accounts exhibits the finances of the state in a sound and flourishing condition. The punctuality in the payment of the taxes furnishes gratifying evidence of the prosperity of our state and the good faith of our citizens. The receipts of revenue for ordinary and contingent purposes exceeds the expenditures by the sum of $162,039 82. It is estimated that at least $100,000 of this sum will not be required in defraying the expenses of the government, and may, therefore, as the revenue of the current year (1856) will be received at the treasury within a few months, be considered surplus money and applicable to the payment of the interest on the state debt, in accordance with the provisions of "An act to provide for paying a portion of the interest on the state debt," approved March 1st, 1845.

There will be about $624,000 applicable to the payment of the principal of the state debt on the first of January, 1857, being an increase of $134,437 over the amount paid the previous year. The increase in the fund for the payment of interest, exclusive of the surplus revenue, is in like proportion.

The statements of the value of taxable property and the amount of taxes levied for the current year, (1856) will probably not be received at this office until the first of January, and therefore cannot be included in this report.

The aggregate valuation of taxable property in the year 1854 is $252,756,568, and the aggregate valuation in the year 1855 is $334,398,425, being an increase in 1855 over the year 1854, of $81,641,657, equal to about thirty-three per cent. There can be but little doubt of the fact that a fair valuation of the taxable property, in accordance with the requirements of the law regulating the assessment of property, would greatly increase the aggregate valuation. It is believed that the property is not assessed in any county over its true value, and the inequality, as shown by the comparative statements, makes it apparent that there must be wrong somewhere. It has been said that the law is radically wrong, that the fault is in the law, &c.; but those who have made such assertions have failed, at least so far as I am advised, to point out the radical wrong. In my opinion it will be difficult to define the duties of assessors and fix rules for valuing property more clearly and definitely than is done in the law now in force. The wrong, then, must be in the administration of the law, not in the law itself.

Tax-payers are not so particular about the valuation of their property, as they are about the criterion by which it is made. They are unwilling to have it assessed at a higher rate than that of their neighbors. The same principle extends to towns and counties. The assessor of a town or county does not desire to value property, at a higher rate than like property is valued in other towns and counties. This desire, though founded in a true principle, (a wish for equal taxation) is the origin of the difficulty. It sets aside the regulations instituted by the law for the valuation of property, and substitutes instead the judgment, and often the mere imagination, of each assessor. In attempting to follow a criterion regulated by no fixed rule, but simply by what each assessor may suppose some one else to be governed by, must necessarily lead to almost every possible variation, in the assessment of property, from its true value.

No national or state revenue law has ever been made that produced a perfect equality in taxation, and, in my opinion, no revenue law is so unequal in its operation but that a strict compliance with its requirements will produce a more equal assessment of taxes than can be produced by the individual judgment of as many different persons as there are assessors in an entire state, without any general rule to govern them; and if it is necessary to fix general rules for valuing property for taxation, it is certainly important that those whose duty it is to act under such rules should act in accordance with them. It was hoped that the rules prescribed in the acts of 1853 were sufficiently clear and explicit to enable assessors in the several counties to approximate at least very near an equality in the valuation of property, and that the law was sufficiently stringent to compel those—if there should be any such—who might be otherwise disposed, to value the property in accordance with the rules prescribed. But the frequent complaints, and the apparent inequality in the value of property, even in adjoining counties, induces me to believe that in some counties the law is not properly understood or it is not considered good authority. It may be that in some of the details the revenue and assessment laws now in force should be amended. I will, however, only suggest one amendment, which is the establishment of a state board of equalizers. Such a board, properly organized, may equalize the valuation of the taxable property among the several counties, so that each county may contribute a share of the expenses of the state government and of the public debt, at least approximating a just proportion, more nearly than is done by the county and town assessors. There have hitherto been objections to the establishment of a state board of equalization, that do not now exist, at least not to so great an extent. The time required to prepare the lists for the use of the board, sending them to the seat of government, making the equalization, reporting the result of the action of the board to the several counties, making the alterations in the original lists, &c., will of course add to the time required under the present law for the completion of the tax lists, and to the expense for that part of the public service; hence it would not have been practicable, under this system, to make such frequent assessments of the real property as the rapid changes in its value for some years past demanded. But the location of railroads, and the general increase in the wealth of the state, having comparatively settled the relative value of real property, the principal objections are removed.

It is believed that the increase in the value of taxable property will justify a reduction in the rate of tax levied for defraying the ordinary and contingent expenses, to one mill on each dollar's valuation, making the rate of state tax levied for all purposes, including the tax for paying the expenses of the state government, state debt, interest on the state debt, and school tax, six and one-half mills.

If, instead of a fixed rate of taxation, the amount required to meet the demands upon the treasury, annually, was determined by law, and apportioned so that each county would pay a pro rata share according to the value of its taxable property, it would, in my opinion, be preferable to the present system. Let the valuation of the property be equalized, so that the people will have confidence that each individual and each county is contributing their just proportion of the expenses of the government, and that the high or low valuation of their property will neither increase or diminish the amount of their taxes, and there will be no more complaint of high valuations. The inducement to list property below its true value being thus removed, a full and fair representation of the wealth of the state would be more easily obtained. There can be no doubt but that a correct representation of the wealth of the state would demonstrate our ability to meet its liabilities without resorting to a higher rate of taxation than that of our sister states. Thus we should wholly remove the objections which have in some instances been urged to deter immigration and the investment of capital in the state. This system cannot, however, be adopted under the present constitution, and is, therefore, only referred to here for the purpose of calling attention to the subject.

Permit me again to call attention to the necessity of a law making provision for the reception and safe keeping of the maps, field notes, and other records of the original surveys in this state, now in the office of the surveyor general. The law of congress does not authorize their delivery to the state authorities until such provision is made.

NOTE.—The collectors in the counties of Alexander, Lee, Montgomery and Warren, have been estopped by injunction from the collection of the amounts remaining due from said counties. The amount due from White county is on bank property claimed by the bank as not being liable to taxation for that year.

In statement No. 12, the amount enjoined is treated as an abatement. In No. 14 it is treated as being due from the counties. There is no doubt but that, on the final adjustment of those accounts, the amount appearing due will be greatly reduced, and probably, in some cases, entirely canceled.

The collectors of the counties of Washington and Winnebago have closed their accounts since the 30th of November, 1856.

No. 15.

TABULAR STATEMENT of the number and value of domestic animals, and average value per head; number and value of enumerated articles, and average value of each article; the value of merchandise, bankers' property, manufactured articles, moneys and credits, bonds, stocks, &c.; unenumerated property, town lots and lands listed for taxation in the several counties, and the amount of state tax for the year 1854, as returned to the Auditor of Illinois.

NOTE.—In making up the foregoing tables, for the year 1854 and for the year 1855, I have not been able, in some cases, to class the property correctly, as the returns to this office do not show the value of real and personal property separately. The returns from some few counties show apparent errors in the footings, but the table is substantially correct.

THOS. H. CAMPBELL, Auditor.

No. 17.

BIENNIAL REPORT
OF THE
TREASURER OF ILLINOIS, TO THE TWENTIETH GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

TREASURER'S OFFICE, ILLINOIS, }
Springfield, December 1, 1856. }

Saline river navigation fund in the treasury on the 1st of December, 1854, is $777 00.

Funds deposited in the treasury from Adams and Hancock counties, belonging to unknown heirs, amount to $86 40.

By the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to regulate payments of interest on the public debt and the purchase of state bonds," approved 15th February, 1855, it is made the duty of the "State treasurer to pay the installments of interest in New York, and to make necessary arrangements for the payment of the installments of interest made payable in London." By the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to provide for the payment of the installment of interest upon the state debt payable in January, 1855," approved February 15th, 1855, a portion of the surplus revenue, and the fund received, or to be received, for the sale of state land, was specifically appropriated "for the payment of the installment of interest which should have been made in New York on the first Monday of January, 1855." The appropriation thus made, and the duties of the treasurer being defined by the acts above referred to, it became necessary to concentrate all the available means entrusted to the undersigned to enable him to pay the installment at as early a day as possible. In order to effect an object so desirable, a settlement of the accounts of the state with Messrs. Matheson & Co., interest paying agents in London, was requested.

These gentlemen very promptly forwarded statements of their accounts, together with vouchers for all disbursements, and in August, 1855, the balance in their hands, (£1,104 9s. 4d.,) equal to $5,399 61, was placed to my credit for account of the January, 1855, installment in the American Exchange Bank, New York, and the further payments of interest in London discontinued.

Some excitement had been created amongst the people of Illinois, as well as amongst the holders of our bonds—the creditors of the state—in consequence of the failure to pay the installment of interest which had been provided for as it fell due in January, 1855. It became necessary to remove the excitement and distrust thus created to the prejudice of our integrity at as early a day as possible.

The duty of paying the interest having devolved upon the treasurer, and appropriations been made by the legislature for payment of the January installment from the land fund and the surplus revenue; but in March following the adjournment of the legislature neither land fund or surplus revenue sufficient to pay the installment was in the treasury. It occurred to me, however, that our state land would be disposed of at an early day, and the unexpended surplus revenue would soon be returned to the treasury, and, therefore, early in April I gave positive assurance to our creditors that the delinquent installment should be paid with the installment of the following July.

The assurance thus given appeared to be generally satisfactory, and its fulfilment in July, 1855, made it entirely so.

In the month of June, 1855, a verbal agreement was made with the president and cashier of the American Exchange Bank, in New York, to receive the interest funds of Illinois from the treasurer on special deposit, and to disburse the same on such terms as should be a fair and reasonable compensation for the services rendered.

On the 22d of June, 1855, my first deposit of $168,000 was made with the bank, being less than ten days prior to the day of payment. From that date to the 14th of December following the sum of $307,600 76 was deposited, being the amount required to pay the interest on liquidation bonds and the January and July installments, at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum, that being the highest figure which the interest fund then collected would justify.

In the month of December, 1855, as the annexed statement of interest payments show, the sum of $15,521 59 of the two former installments was yet unclaimed and subject to the treasurer's order; that amount, added to $202,668 77, gave $218,190 36, the latter being the sum required to pay the January, 1856, installment of interest, (at the rate of four per cent. per annum,) together with the balance of interest due upon the liquidation bonds.

On the 30th of June last a balance of $10,083 96, provided for the installment of January, 1856, was yet unclaimed, and added to make up the sum of $225,083 96, being the amount required to pay the installment of July, 1856, at the rate of five per cent. per annum, with the balance of interest due upon the liquidation bonds. On the 29th November, 1856, a balance of $5,592 20, provided for the installment of July, 1856, was yet unclaimed, and added to make up the sum of $274,515 05, being the amount required to pay unclaimed installments and interest in full, at the rate of six per cent. per annum, upon the entire amount of outstanding interest paying indebtedness.

The payment of interest in full upon our state debt, as will be done on the first Monday in January, 1857, has been earnestly desired by both debtor and creditor, and is at length accomplished, for the first time, from the collection of taxes; and, although our interest paying indebtedness will increase in the aggregate over a million and a half in January, 1858, yet the full interest can be paid semi-annually by the application of the large amount of surplus revenue and funds derived from the sale of state lands, which are now in the treasury.

The interest being hereafter paid in full, no good reason seems to exist why the arrears of interest accrued upon our bonds should not be funded and interest certificates issued therefor.

In connection with the subject of paying interest I beg leave to say, that the requirements of the act of last season are entirely incompatible and seriously conflicting with the duties of the treasurer's office; both duties cannot be performed at the same time by one individual. In the month of July, when the treasurer is required to be present in New York, very large payments are being made into the state treasury. In the month of January the personal attention of the treasurer is absolutely required in his office to pay out the very large amount (now over $600,000) of two mill tax, which is paid, pro rata, upon such bonds as are presented annually to the auditor. If, then, the personal attention of the treasurer is required in Springfield and New York simultaneously, and cannot be had at both places at the same time, I ask if there may not be danger of pecuniary loss by entrusting the large amount of funds under his care to the hands of agents at either point, who are wholly irresponsible to the people of Illinois?

With regard to the duties above alluded to, experience convinces me that they entirely conflict with each other, and that the best interests of the state require them to be separated. The fact that I have performed them to the best of my humble ability, without any compensation whatever, does not induce the suggestion for a separation; it is that the interests of the state and the responsibilities of the treasurer may not be placed in jeopardy, but that both may be more securely guarded.

The case of Messrs. Thompson & Forman, iron merchants of London, who have a lien upon $1,000,000 of our state bonds—besides about $90,000 in bonds in their own right, but by contract are not privileged to dispose of—may be presented to the legislature for adjustment.

The interests of the state require that those bonds should be relieved and canceled, and as the claim is merely an adjustment, and not an increase of our liabilities to them, the true policy would be to authorize a settlement of the claim.

During the year 1855, information was received at this office from A. Chartrain, esq., advocate of the imperial court of Paris, that a sum of money appeared to be due the state of Illinois from the assets of a bank formerly in existence in that city, Mr. Chartrain proposing to attempt its collection for the consideration of one-half the amount recovered.

As no information concerning this indebtedness was at hand, either in the fund commissioner's or treasurer's office, a letter concerning it was forwarded to Mr. Chartrain, and in February last an answer was received from him at this office.

About £550 sterling appears to be due the state, and, in Mr. C.'s opinion, with a fair prospect of recovering that sum.

Therefore, believing that the state of Illinois could not be injured by the transaction, on the 24th of October last, I forwarded a letter of attorney, duly executed by me as treasurer of Illinois, empowering Mr. Chartrain to collect, and to place one-half the amount, when collected, to the credit of the treasurer of Illinois, in deposit with the American Exchange Bank, in the city of New York.

JOHN MOORE, Treasurer.

State Treasurer to the State of Illinois.
